

Nova Southeastern University
Assistant Professor, Counselor Education
Department of Counseling, College of Psychology
Fort Lauderdale, FL

Nova Southeastern University in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, invites applications for an assistant professor position in Mental Health Counseling. The successful candidate will teach graduate classes in the Clinical Mental Health Counseling sequence; maintain an active research agenda; supervise master's level students; and fulfill service responsibilities to the department, college, and university, and in advancing the counseling profession. The candidate will be expected to work in collaboration with other colleagues in the Department of Counseling, the College of Psychology, and community partners. The candidate will supervise students in mental health counseling practicum and internship field placements.

Qualifications: The applicant must possess a doctorate in Counselor Education (doctoral degree must be earned and conferred by date of hire) and be licensed or license eligible as an LMHC in Florida. The candidate should also hold certification with NBCC, and demonstrate evidence of a research agenda or a clear potential for scholarly activities. Preference will be given to applicants from a CACREP-accredited program (or who were fully assigned to a Counselor Education program prior to July 1, 2013), documented clinical experience in the field of mental health counseling, and active professional involvement with NBCC and/or ACA. A commitment to interdisciplinary collaboration, as well as a commitment to service, is essential.

Minimum Qualifications:

- Doctoral degree in Counselor Education
- Professional identity as a counselor/counselor educator
- Commitment to the professional field of counselor education as evidenced by education, teaching, counseling experience, research, and professional affiliations, such as ACA, ACES, and/or AMHCA
- Experience in teaching graduate level courses or seminars
- Commitment to diversity and multicultural counseling competencies

Review of applicants will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.
